In the regulations, the Executive Board of the institution shall set out which documents must be submitted upon application. The amount of the reduction referred to in the first sentence shall, in any case, depend on the income of the person involved.
7. A general implementation order may be adopted to ensure that the obligation to pay the difference, as described in the first paragraph, second sentence, does not apply if the student must pay reduced statutory tuition fees for one of their registrations and also meets the conditions to be set.

1. When determining the individual tuition fee for students who must pay the statutory tuition fee, a reduction or exemption from tuition fees shall apply if:
 - student registration commences on 1 November or later: the tuition fee shall be reduced in proportion to the number of month;
 - the student is registered at the university or another institution of higher education on another study programme for which they have paid statutory tuition fee and have received a BBC (proof of payment of statutory tuition fee): the tuition fee shall be reduced by the amount previously paid, unless the situation described in Article 7.48, seventh paragraph, of the Law applies.
2. If the individual does not meet the requirements specified in Article 5.1, a reduction or exemption from tuition fee will only apply if:
 - a. student registration starts on 1 November or later: the tuition fee will be reduced in proportion to the number of months;
 - b. the student is registered at Leiden University on another study programme: the tuition fee shall be reduced by the amount previously paid;
 - c. the student has been granted a waiver: the tuition fee shall be reduced by the amount of the waiver;

- d. the student receives a scholarship via the UAF: reduction of tuition fees by way of a scholarship via the UAF is only possible if it concerns a first registration on a bachelor's or master's programme in The Netherlands, or if the student has not previously obtained a bachelor's or master's degree in The Netherlands.

5.7. Collection of tuition fees

1. The student's payment obligation applies for the duration of the entire academic year and ends automatically on 31 August of the academic year.
2. Tuition fee can be paid by:
 - a. issuing an irrevocable direct debit authorisation to the university for the collection of the tuition fees owed in one lump sum or in five equal instalments. For student registration commencing on 1 February, it is possible to pay the tuition fee for the remainder of the academic year in 3 instalments. In the event of collection in instalments, the first instalment shall be increased by € 24.00 in administration costs, as referred to in Article 2.4 of the Implementation decree WHW 2008;
 - b. a single bank transfer to the relevant bank account number;
 - c. submitting a BBC issued by another educational institution, provided that the student owes the statutory tuition fee or is following a pre-master programme;
 - d. issuing a bank statement or scholarship letter before the commencement of student registration, by non-EEA students who are registering at Leiden University for the first time and for whom Leiden University is acting as guarantor for the residence permit;
 - e. transferring the tuition fee in one lump sum or in instalment to the relevant bank account number: this applies to non-EEA students;
 - f. entering into an instalment agreement with Leiden University prior to (re)registration by non-EEA students who wish to pay in instalments. The tuition fee can be paid in five equal instalments. For student registration commencing on 1 February, it is possible to pay the tuition fee for the remainder of the academic year in 3 instalments. In the event of collection in instalments, the first instalment shall be increased by € 24.00 in administration costs, as referred to in Article 2.4 of the Implementation decree WHW 2008;
3. If a student does not have a SEPA bank account (Single Euro Payments Area), they are obliged to pay the tuition fee owed on time and in one lump sum.

5.8. Consequences of not paying tuition fees (on time)

1. If a direct debit authorisation has been issued for tuition fee payments and an instalment cannot be collected or the payment deadline is not met, a reminder shall be sent in the event of late payment, setting down a further deadline by which the amount owed must be paid.
2. If the tuition fee, or part of the tuition fee, has not been paid by the end of the academic year (31 August), student registration for a subsequent academic year will not be effected until the outstanding amount of tuition fee has been paid. The tuition fee for the academic year in which the student wishes to register must then be paid in one lump sum.
3. A payment shall be deducted from the longest outstanding tuition fee claim.
4. If collection of the outstanding amount proves to be impossible, the student's registration shall be terminated with effect from the second month following the month in which the demand for payment, as referred to in the first paragraph, was sent. Subsequently, the claim will be transferred to a collection agency.
5. The statutory collection costs will be borne by the student.

5.9. Refunds

4. If a student owes a lower amount of tuition fees than they have already paid, the difference shall be refunded on a pro rata basis.

5. In the event of termination of registration by the student after the month of June, the student shall not be entitled to a refund of the tuition fees paid, as referred to in Article 5.7, for the remaining months of the academic year in question.
6. The amount of tuition fee to be refunded shall be set off against any outstanding financial claims of the University against the student.

5.10. Setting tuition fee at zero for joint programmes

Tuition fee will be set at zero by the Director of SEA for students who are registered on a joint programme (joint degree) with a foreign university and who have paid tuition fee to the foreign university. The condition for setting the tuition fee at zero is that the student is enrolled at Leiden University for the entire duration of the study programme.

5.11. Tuition fee exemption in connection to board position
